Bibliography

BIBLIOGRAPHY

Clopper, Cynthia G. 2000. Some acoustic cues for categorizing American English regional dialects: An initial report on dialect variation in production and perception. Technical Report 24, Speech Research Laboratory: Department of Psychology, Indiana University, Bloomington, Indiana.

Di Paolo, Marianna, and Alice Faber. 1990. Phonation differences and to the phonetic content of the tense-lax contrast in Utah English. Language Variation and Change 2.155–204.

—— 1979. Judgments and confidence reactions to disadvantaged speech. In (Giles and St. Clair 1979), chapter 2, 22–44.

HIROSE, KEIKICHI, and HIROMICHI KAWANAMI. 2002. Temporal rate change of dialogue speech in prosodic units as compared to read speech. Speech Communication 36.97–111.

IRVINE, JUDITH. 2001. ‘Style’ as distinctiveness: The culture and ideology of linguistic differentiation. In (Eckert and Rickford 2001), chapter 1, 21–43.

—, and HOWARD GILES. 1997. Words as weapons - when do they wound?
Human Communication Research 24.260–301.

LEFÈVRE, JACQUES A. 1978. Dialect and regional identification in Belgium: The case of Wallonia.

LEVIN, HARRY, HOWARD GILES, and PETER GARRETT. 1994. The effects of lexical formality and accent on trait attributions.

LEVINE, LEWIS, and HARRY CROCKETT. 1966. Speech variation in a piedmont community: Post-vocalic /r/. In Explorations in Sociolinguistics, ed. by Stanley Presented at the Annual Meeting of the Linguistic Society of America.

—, 2005b. Situated sexuality: Variation and the sociolinguistic perception of identity. Paper Presented at the South East Conference of Linguistics (SECOL) 72.

Language and Communication 24.97–133.
LIND, E. ALLAN, and WILLIAM M. O’BARR. 1979. The social significance of speech in the courtroom. In (Giles and St. Clair 1979), chapter 4, 66–87.

BIBLIOGRAPHY

BIBLIOGRAPHY

—–, and Rochelle Cole. 1990. Evaluative perceptions of interpersonal communication with elders. In Communication, Health and the Elderly, ed. by Howard 1979. Voice and speech correlates of perceived social influence in simulated juries. In (Giles and St. Clair 1979), chapter 5, 88–120.

SMITH, VICTORIA, SUSAN A. SILTANEN, and LAWRENCE A. HOSMAN. 1998. The effects of powerful and powerless speech styles and speaker expertise on impression information and attitude change. Communication Research Reports 15.27–35.

